

Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies

Guest Editors:

Pedro J. Oiarzabal and Ulf-Dietrich Reips
both University of Deusto, Spain

Special Issue: Migration and the Internet: Social Networking and Diasporas

Volume 38, Issue 9, 2012

Enjoy free access to the special issue for 30 days by visiting:
<http://tandfonline.com/r/cjms389>.

Migration and Diaspora in the Age of Information and Communication Technologies

Pedro J. Oiarzabal and Ulf-Dietrich Reips

Migrants' New Transnational Habitus: Rethinking Migration Through a Cosmopolitan Lens in the Digital Age

Mihaela Nedelcu

Irresponsible Radicalisation: Diasporas, Globalisation and Long-Distance Nationalism in the Digital Age

Daniele Conversi

Structuring Migrants' Political Activities on the Internet: A Two-Dimensional Approach

Kathrin Kissau

Studying Migrants with the Help of the Internet: Methods from Psychology

Ulf-Dietrich Reips and Laura E. Buffardi

Transnational Families and Social Technologies: Reassessing Immigration Psychology

Gonzalo Bacigalupe and María Cámara

Salvadoran Transnational Families: ICT and Communication Practices in the Network Society

José Luis Benítez

'Instant Nationalism' and the 'Cyber Mufti': The Arab Diaspora in Europe and the Transnational Media

Khalil Rinnawi

Diaspora Basques and Online Social Networks: An Analysis of Users of Basque Institutional Diaspora Groups on Facebook

Pedro J. Oiarzabal

If you do not currently have an active account on Taylor & Francis Online then you will first need to register. Please click on the link above and then click on 'Register' to complete all the required details. You will then have a username/password that you can use to login and access the free content.

If you already have an account simply click on the link above and sign-in with your username/password. You will be able to access the free content immediately.

www.tandfonline.com/cjms

 Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group